Race Report: Thunder Valley, CA, June 1, 2019

After coming so close to an overall win, Justin Cooper repeated his previous two rounds results at Thunder Valley: going one-two for second overall. Cooper put on a dominant performance on the high-altitude track, but got his foot peg caught in a rut half way through the second moto, costing him the win. Ferrandis went threefive for fourth overall. Colt Nichols ended the day in sixth. Rookie, Ty Masterpool had some breakthrough moments when he holeshotted the first moto and took his first top ten pro moto finish. He went six-sixteen, for thirteenth overall.

Qualifying:

250 Practice 1 Group A:

Dylan Ferrandis: 1st,2:05.105
Justin Cooper: ^{2nd},2:05.413

Justin Cooper: ^{7th},2:06.459
Colt Nichols: 6th, 2:06.259
Ty Masterpool:13th, 2:08.532

Overall Best Qualifying times:

Dylan Ferrandis qualified second overall with a best time of 2:05.032. Justin Cooper's best time of 2:05.413 placed him third in qualifying. Nichols's was the eighth fastest qualifier, with a time of 2:06.259 and Ty Masterpool's time of 2:08.532, placed him fourteenth.

Moto 1:

Ty Masterpool and Justin Cooper got great jumps out of the gate. Masterpool took the holeshot but Cooper got pushed wide and came out in fourth. Ferrandis was in sixth and Nichols eleventh. Masterpool lost the lead and dropped to seventh. Meanwhile Cooper was working his way forward: he made a pass for second then got on the tail of the leader. He went wide open down a hill and took the lead. Ferrandis was also advancing through the field on his Monster Energy/Star Racing/Yamaha. He moved into third half way through the moto. The rain began to fall then lightning was spotted which brought out the red flag. Justin Cooper took the win, Ferrandis was third, Masterpool was sixth and Nichols fourteenth.

Moto 2:

Justin Cooper took the holeshot and Nichols was in third. Ferrandis was tenth on the first lap and Masterpool eleventh. Ferrandis crashed and dropped to sixteenth. Fifteen minutes in Cooper got his foot peg caught in a rut. He went off the track and tipped over. He got going again in third. Nichols moved back into third then passed Cooper when he went down. Ferrandis came back strong and worked his way into eighth. Nichols lost a spot and Ferrandis turned up his pace on the last three laps. He was making up a few seconds on the riders ahead of him. He made a pass for fifth then caught up to Nichols. The two ended with Nichols in fourth and Ferrandis in fifth. Cooper pushed all the way to the end and crossed the finish line in second. Masterpool ended in sixteenth.

Three rounds in and Justin Cooper is still second in the Championship rankings. Dylan Ferrandis holds on to third and Colt Nichols is fourth. Ty Masterpool moves up a position, from thirteenth to twelfth.
